THE NEW APPROACH TO THERAPEUTIC EXERCISE

The Revolutionary Low-Impact Exercise

Originally developed for Russian cosmonauts, later used by Olympic and professional athletes, Whole Body Vibration therapy is now available to everyone. Several hundred recent clinical studies have finally convinced the health community to use vibration for therapeutic treatment of over 30 various health conditions. But what are more amazing than the research are the improvements we see and the stories we hear.

Vibrations stimulate muscles throughout the entire body, much more effectively than traditional exercise and activity. This stimulation causes the muscles to contract up to 50 times per second and 3,000 times per minute. This creates significantly increased blood-flow with an improvement of transport for oxygen/carbon dioxide, vitality components (micro-nutrients), energy components (macro-nutrients) and toxins and waste (i.e. lactic acid). Amazing things are happening all the way down to the cellular level.

The Therapeutic Vibration

VibraWav® is the ultimate health and wellness solution. Harnessing the power of Whole Body Vibration VibraWav® developed the lowest cost, highest value vibration platforms available today. Vibration is a quicker, safer and more effective method of putting the human body in an ideal health state where it recovers and heals much quicker than other methods used by traditional health and wellness providers.

VibraWav® provides better results in just 10 minutes than you receive from 60 minutes of traditional exercise. Through vibration 100% of the muscle fiber is being stimulated versus approximately 40% in the same non-vibration exercise. It takes 8 to 10 months of traditional exercise to accomplish the same results that take only 1 month with vibration. Vibration does almost all the work for you. What could be easier?
